Born out of more than a decade of friendship between Ryan White and James Downes (and a mutual love of THE BEATLES), as well the members growing up in the thriving Connecticut hardcore scene, CALL IT ARSON have blasted onto the underground music scene of the Northeast. Formed officially in 2002 with the addition of Jeff Brown and Brian McOmber, taking their name as a decree for the destruction of the United States' current socio-political system in hopes of rebuilding one that is more just.

The quartet quickly gained local interest in their original amalgamation of many style of music, playing alongside such well known acts as THE APPLESEED CAST, ENGINE DOWN, BEEP BEEP, HEY MERCEDES, and many more. Drawing influence from a wide range of sources including classic and modern rock, '90s hardcore, and indie rock, CALL IT ARSON's innovative and different sound demonstrates their broad vision works.

With the release of their self-titled debut album, CALL IT ARSON have begun yet another chapter in the band's history. Having proven themselves in their area, it's time for the band to show the rest of the world their impressive songwriting.
